OUR WAR GENERALS.

[Washington Cor. Boston Advertiser.]

"Only eighteen years ago that the rebellion closed," said an old army officer to me the other day, "but the Generals of the war are fast going out of sight." Then he went on to say, "Meade, Garfield, Thomas, Hooker, Kilpatrick, Halleck and Burnside are dead. The next few years will see that list lengthened. Gen. Grant is well on towards seventy. He comes to Washington often, and walks quietly about the streets, with his cigar in his mouth, better dressed than when he was President, and looking as if life agreed with him. Sherman is sixty-four, and he looks older, but the family is hardy, and he is likely to see 1900. The youngest of all the great leaders is Sheridan, now to command the army, and he is but fifty-one. Sheridan was a Major-General at thirty. Fitz John Porter appears here every winter, white haired and broken in frame—a little old gentleman who looks back to twenty years of disgrace. His old commander, McClellan, now a rotund man with bending shoulders, has not changed much of late. He is rich and entertains well in his New York City home, but the activity of his life is over. He likes still to tell of his campaigns. Pleasanton, the hero of a hundred cavalry fights, lives quietly here, and can be found any day reading the papers in one of the offices on newspaper row. His hair and moustache are white, and his voice gentle as a woman's. You can say the same of Rosecrans, the idol of the army of the Cumberland. He and his wife live, almost unnoticed, on Capitol Hill during the time he spends here performing his duties as a California Congressman. His complexion is like a youth's, and his hair, with a military cut, white as snow. The man who commanded 100,000 men at Chickamauga seems abashed at the confusion in Congress, and seldom rises to speak. Generals Hawley and Logan are the two other most distinguished Generals in Congress. Both are fifty-seven years old, but neither has gray hair. Rosecrans will be reinforced this winter by an old companion in the Western armies, General Slocum of Brooklyn. He has been in Congress before. He served, I believe, four years soon after the close of the war. General Sickles is practicing law in New York, and Stoneman is Governor of California. Doubleday, who was in Fort Sumter when it was fired upon, lives in New York, and is writing a book; while Humphreys, Hunter and Crittenden may be seen almost any day about this city, where they own fine houses and live handsomely on the retired list. Fremont is no longer rich. He and his wife, Jessie Benton Fremont, are forgotten in crowded New York. The General whom the Vermont troops worshipped, George J. Stennard, with one arm gone and half a dozen wounds, sits up at the Capitol during the session, tending the door of the members' gallery of the House. The Democrats promise that he shall not be disturbed. He is so inoffensive that the pushing women almost overpower him on days when a crowd visits the Capitol, and yet he saved the day at Gettysburg, and fell with three wounds while leading a forlorn hope at Petersburg. McDowell is on the retired list; Don Carlos Buell runs an iron furnace in Kentucky; Banks is a United States Marshal. Hancock, Schofield and Pope are still Major-Generals, but the last of them will retire in three years. General Howard is at Omaha, a Brigadier. General Terry is the youngest of the Brigadiers who won fame in the war. With good luck he will succeed Sheridan in the command of the army. General Wright, with benevolent face and patriarchal beard, has turned from war to projects of river and harbor improvement. Gilmore, Parke and Weitzel, once commanding corps and armies, are now in charge of lighthouses and fortifications. Grierson, the famous Cavalry General of the Western armies, is brooding in Texas with the mounted colored regiment which he commands. They are all getting well on toward the downward track. In ten years there will not be a general officer of the war in active life."

THE PIOCHE WEEKLY RECORD.

VOL. XXVII. PIOCHE, NEV., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1883. NO. 11

A DELICIOUS PIECE OF SATIRE.

Before the Committee.

[Detroit Free Press.]

It is understood that if the Senate Committee on Labor are anxious to get hold of a reporter from some daily paper and hear what he has to say, any one of the forty professionals in Detroit will promptly respond to the call. We can imagine him in the witness-box his $30 suit fitting him to a wrinkle, his diamonds blinding all eyes and his pockets bulging out with greenbacks.

"Where were you born, Mr. De Courcy?"
"In one of the highest priced rooms in the Grand Pacific Hotel, sir."
"Of poor parents?"
"No, sir. The old man had about $7,000,000 salted down when I made my debut."
"Were you reared in a log cabin on a farm which produced nothing but Canada thistles and boulders?"
"No, sir. Our residence cost $650,000, and was situated in a high-toned neighborhood."

"I presume you had to walk seven miles through the snowdrifts to attend school?"
"Not exactly, sir. I was sent to college and allowed $200 per week pin money."

"How old were you when you made your start in life?"
"Well, I used to run the family when I was three years old."

"What pecuniary assistance have you ever had?"
"The old man left me about $5,000,000, sir."

"What was your first speculation?"
"Buying a United States Senator for $3,000."

"How came you to drift into the newspaper business?"
"As a pastime, sir. There's no hard work, no walking around, nothing to worry over. All you have to do is sit in your luxurious office and smoke thirty cent cigars and plan the policy of the paper for its owners."

"And the salary?"
"Oh, you go down to the safe and help yourself to all you want. There's nothing mean about the business department of a daily paper."

"How much are you worth now, Mr. De Courcy?"
"Oh, from fifteen to twenty millions."

"Do you think that the workingman has a fair show?"
"Certainly. Any cooper, carpenter or painter who isn't living on the interest of his money has only himself to blame."

"That's all, Mr. De Courcy. Your testimony has done more to enlighten this committee as to the real status and needs of the workingman than all we have ever heard of before or expected to hear in the future."

THE NEW PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Denver Republican gives more particulars of the organization of the new railroad company to connect San Francisco and Denver, and its incorporation under the Colorado laws. The preliminary line is mapped out to run from Alameda across the bay from San Francisco to Gilroy; thence west, crossing the Sierras near or through Yosemite and coming out on this side near the southern shore of Mono Lake; thence on through the southern part of the State of Nevada to a point 50 miles below Milford, Utah Territory, to which point a branch line will be run; thence easterly, probably along the valley of the Grand River to Denver. The main line is estimated at 1,200 miles, and the branches at 300 more. The Republican asserts that $2,000,000 of the capital stock is already subscribed; that the road is solid with heavy English capitalists; that it will be the shortest road and over the easiest grades between the Pacific and Denver; that so soon as some final surveys are completed work will be commenced at both ends and pressed through to completion with all possible dispatch. A list of present stockholders is given, which includes some very heavy men, and some others that are not particularly wealthy. The capital stock is fixed at $75,000,000, or $50,000 per mile. On its face this project has a bona fide look. It looks as though it was intended to pick up one after another of the hemmed-in branch lines of the Union Pacific, and branch them all an outlet in the San Francisco bay; as though it was meant to be a modification of the programme marked out two years ago which was to cause a concentration of roads in Pahrangat Valley, and then to give them a common outlet to the West coast.

HEART DISEASE!

CURED BY

DR. RUSH'S REGULATOR.

FOR HEART TROUBLES.

Wm. G. Osgoodby, the well-known safe manufacturer of Buffalo, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Newark, and Atlanta, Ga., says:
"Office of Osgoodby's Improved Safes, 17 S. Broad Street, ATLANTA, Ga., October 17th, 1883.
Dr. RUSH'S MEDICAL ASSOCIATION:
Dear Doctors:—The three bottles of 'Dr. Rush's Regulator' I ordered were received by express last week. I have taken nearly one bottle and am thoroughly satisfied with the result. For over two years I have been troubled with sharp pain in my heart. My physician, upon examination, pronounced it enlargement of the heart, and was unable to give me any relief. The trouble grew worse until I had become convinced that I could not be cured. While in New York City, last week, I called upon one of the most prominent physicians there, who charged me $5 for an examination and then recommended 'Dr. Rush's Regulator.' I ordered the three bottles, and have not been troubled since I commenced taking it, but shall continue to take the entire three bottles so as to obtain a permanent cure. You have my sincere thanks.
I am, gentlemen, Very respectfully,
Wm. G. OSGOODBY

Dr. Rush's "Regulator" has never failed to give relief. It has been used successfully for years in subduing the most stubborn cases of heart difficulties. A positive cure for Enlargement, Palpitation, Fluttering and Fatty Degeneration of the Heart. Price, $1.00 per bottle; six for $5.00. Sold by druggists, or sent direct by Dr. RUSH'S MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Nunda, N. Y., U. S. A.
